Android Fundamentals Project - TV and Movie Search

“Have you seen this amazing movie/TV show called [x]?”

“No, what’s it about?”

Problem:

Before our friend/family member/colleague launches into an epic plot tale, wouldn't it be nice to have a quick, general synopsis plot lookup to aid the discussion? We all know that IMDb is the prevailing source for all things entertainment. However, sometimes a simple request for summary information can get lost in so much data richness. Having an easy lookup tool to provide a quick view is a convenient way to begin, before diving into the full scale sea of topic content.

Proposed Solution:

Create a simple app that answers one small question ... What’s it about? Provide the app user with some basic data about the movie or series, enabling them to determine at a quick glance their level of interest. Helpful information may be the genre and industry rating, some basic details regarding actors and creators, and definitely the plot. The app should also provide the user with an intuitive short cut to go directly to the IMDb site for detailed information.
